Teachers & Writers magazine, the winner of ten Educational Press Awards for Excellence, covers contemporary issues and innovations in creative writing education, and engages writers, educators, and students in a conversation on the nature of creativity and the imagination.

RECENT ISSUES have included interviews with Edward Hirsch, Kimiko Hahn, Billy Collins, Victor Hernández Cruz, and Walter Dean Myers; articles about teaching the ode, about poets James Schuyler and Federico García Lorca, and how-to pieces on welcoming music and art into the poetry classroom.

Occasional special issues feature an in-depth look at subjects of particular interest to our readers, including, most recently, the teaching of creative writing in non-school settings such as hospitals, prisons, and juvenile detention wards.

Teachers & Writers magazine is published quarterly and is available by subscription or with a T&W membership.

Cover photographer Matthew Burgess has been a poet-in-residence with Teachers & Writers since 2001. His poems have appeared in various journals and magazines, and he's published three chapbooks: Liftoff, Yeah You, and most recently, a series of photographs and poems titled Day After Labor Day. He would like to be a fine art photographer one day, but first he has to finish his PhD in English. In the meantime, he likes to have a camera within reach.
