I found this article ["The Crown Experiments: Conversations Between Words and Numbers," Teachers & Writers magazine (Spring 2010)] simply amazing. I'm so proud that my work helped, and so proud to be even a small part in this effort. Please extend my congratulations to Amanda Leigh Lichtenstein and Luke Albrecht on this work. The piece is written with an incredible insight and enthusiasm and I'm guessing the class was taught that way, too.

I am a big fan all around of your amazing Teachers & Writers magazine and was delighted to read the article that Amanda Lichtenstein and Luke Albrecht published in your last issue. Their collaborative work was created in the arts integration project, Project AIM, that I direct at Columbia College Chicago and it was great to see this work shared with the teaching artist world.

SUBMIT YOUR ESSAY FOR THE 2010 Bechtel Prize

Since 2004, Teachers & Writers Collaborative (T&W) has honored the author of an exemplary essay on literary arts education with the annual Bechtel Prize. Submissions for the award address important issues in creative writing education and/or literary studies.

The 2010 Bechtel Prize will be judged by Phillip Lopate.

The essay selected to receive the Bechtel Prize appears in Teachers & Writers magazine and on the T&W website, and the author receives a $1,000 honorarium. Honoraria totaling $500 are shared by the authors of entries selected as finalists for the prize, which may also be published in Teachers & Writers.

Refer to the Bechtel Page on our website (www.twc.org) to view the submission guidelines, read winning essays from previous years, and get more information about the prize. The submission deadline for the 2010 Bechtel Prize is 5:00 PM (Eastern), Wednesday, June 30, 2010.
